

CHICAGO KNIGHTS HERE TOMORROW

Varied Program for Visitors
During Stop at Washington.

Three hundred members of the Knights of Columbus from Chicago will arrive at Union Station tomorrow evening at 5 o'clock on a tour of Washington. Old Point Comfort, New York City, Albany, Niagara Falls and Detroit.

The Washington Knights of Columbus have arranged an elaborate program for their entertainment. A large delegation will meet the Chicago Knights at Union Station, where an address of welcome will be made by Dr. J. Rosier Biggs, who will present the party with a mammoth key. The key is marked as follows: "The key to our city," and on the reverse side "the key to our hearts," presented by Washington Knights to St. James' Brotherhood, August 7, 1916. A group photograph will be taken in front of the Columbus Monument, and while a cornet solo of "The Star Spangled Banner" is being played by Jerome Goldsmith, three American flags will be lowered from the large staffs in front of Union Station.

On the following day the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the White House, the Lincoln Memorial and other public buildings will be visited and a pilgrimage will be made to Mount Vernon, where a large floral wreath will be placed on the tomb of Washington by the visiting Knights. The party leaves Mount Vernon they will visit Arlington and then proceed to Columbus Country Club, where dinner will be served the entire party.

Reception by Local Knights.

Following the dinner there will be a brief reception by the officers and members of the Washington Knights of Columbus and a cabaret show, followed by informal dancing. The cabaret show will be produced by the Knights of Columbus Dramatic Club, assisted by George H. O'Connor and Matt Horn. The program will include the following entertainers:

Miss Agnes Holden, Bernice Fitzgerald, Miss Edna Hillyard, Maurice Jarvis, George H. O'Connor, Matt Horn, the Misses Edna and Marie Strudler, Harry Schwarz, Miss Estelle Murray, Irwin Cosgrove, Maurice Fitzgerald, Miss Marie Melitzer, and Arthur M. McClellan.

The committee in charge of cabaret show will be as follows: Francis J. P. Cleary, chairman; John P. Luitich, Denis E. Connell, Henry F. Dolan, William Howard and F. M. McLaughlin.

Will Meet the President.

On the following day the party will be received on the White House lawn by the President, and after visiting the Catholic University, and the National Academy of Sciences, the party will proceed to Norfolk on the steamer Northland. The committee in charge of entertaining the visitors is as follows:

J. Rosier Biggs, chairman; M. A. Schaefer, B. F. Myers, E. L. Tucker, J. F. McGuire, L. A. Rover, Dr. J. A. Gannon, W. H. Morris, J. W. Wilson, O. J. LeBeau, A. D. Wilkinson, F. C. DOCTOR SEES EXAMPLE IN CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Layman in Pulpit Cites Lack of Faith and Love Among the Churchgoers.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Bay View, Mich., Aug. 5.—"The example set us by Christian Scientists should put to shame every complaining, growing Christian on the face of the earth," said Dr. William K. Sadler, noted Chicago physician and Chautauqua lecturer, in his sermon this week before a large audience at the twenty-seventh annual assembly of the Bay View Camp Ground Association of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Then the audience sat up and took notice.

"I am not a preacher, I am a physician," continued Dr. Sadler. "So you can't try me for heresy. You should be thankful that I have as much religion as I've got."

"The Christian religion, if universally lived, would banish all illness and disaster, and the time is coming when love will guide us away from the tortures of feeling. An evangelist once asked me how I expected him to bring men to God if not through a fear of hell. I told him to lead them by teaching the love of God that brings sinners to repentance."

"Many think they have offended God because they have a chronic illness. Their soul can soar above that. They can be made perfect by their faith."

It was the first time a layman had been asked to preach a sermon in the Bay View Auditorium. Dr. Sadler is head of the department of therapeutics in the Post Graduate Medical School of Chicago.

SPIGNUL RITES TOMORROW.

Jury Returns Verdict of Accidental Death of Boy.

Funeral services for William H. Spignul, who was killed by a street car last Friday, will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, at 1941 Monroe street northwest.

At an inquest held yesterday over the boy's body, the coroner's jury returned a verdict of "accidental death."

COCKROACHES MAY CARRY DISEASE, SAY EXPERTS

The United States Public Health Service has issued the following bulletin:

Do you know that—

The hand that carries food to the mouth can also carry disease germs?

Health first is the highest form of safety first?

Tuberculosis and poverty go hand in hand?

The United States Public Health Service will send a booklet on flies and disease, gratis to all applicants?

The breast-fed baby has the best chance?

Physical fitness is preparedness against disease?

Pneumonia is a communicable disease?

Cockroaches may carry disease?

CALLS MEETING TO AID RELIEF

President Dolph, of Welfare
Association, Takes Action
Because of Slow Returns.

John Dolph, president of the Citizens' Welfare Association, has called a meeting of the finance committee of the organization to meet Tuesday at noon. This meeting is called primarily to line up some way of getting enough resources with which to carry on the relief work among the families of District Guardsmen.

So slow have returns from those appealed to in behalf of the work, that the organization has finally decided to present the matter coldly before the committee on finance. Some of the people appealed to for aid have generously contributed to the relief fund, says Mrs. Alice I. Stuart, secretary of the organization, but most of the business firms and individuals have not yet been heard from.

It is suggested by some of the committee members that a personal canvass should be made of all those who were originally included on the "good fellows" list and appealed to through the mail. Dolph also wants to call a meeting of the entire Citizens' Welfare Association with all its subsidiary organizations. Such a meeting of the whole organization would make it comparatively easy to reach each member and thus personally acquaint him of the importance of earnest endeavor in procuring funds for the alleviation of the distress now current in 140 families, whose main support are now on the border.

If each member of the association can once get the seriousness of the situation into his head, says Mr. Dolph, and observe from cold facts the conditions as they really are, it will then no longer be such a task to secure contributions. A few will not be working at the expense of the many.

Notes of Camp Ordway

By WATSON DAVIS.

The militiamen can capture and destroy in a tactical sense all the Virginia villages near Camp Ordway without harm, but when they tackle a horse's nest there are casualties. Company M in one of the morning sham battles found this out. They were marching through brush when the deployment without commands was started. Angry horses stirred up by an advance guard were attacking. The wounded were, Lieut. Walter B. White, severely stung; Private John Prendable, needed hospital treatment for swollen face; Private Sebastian Caminitia, nearly every other member of the company suffered minor injury.

Villa, Mexican bandit, has been turning up at unexpected places, so has Villa, dog mascot of Company H. Several weeks ago he was taken by his owner, Private Arthur Tetlow, to Bethesda, Md., under orders that ridded the camp of dogs. Villa returned the other day, tired and travelworn, and resumed his place in the life of the company street.

With visions of two stripes on their plain sleeves Privates Wise and Oliver, of Company E, recruits, executed commands given out by an examining board for corporal warrants, consisting of Sergeants R. Jones, W. D. Smith, R. A. Burke. After two or three hours of hot drill and exercises they were finally sworn in by Sergt. Frank E. Hodges. The report of the examination was given them in a box, securely wrapped, and the two hopeful privates were sent to the captain. There they learned that the tests they had been going through were unofficial, and for the sole benefit of the older members of the company who had watched the drill expectantly.

Private Steve Cassasa has decided to drive a mule in the Supply Company, rather than carry a rifle in Company E, and has been transferred.

Simpson Luther, as captain of the baseball team of Company H, is looking for a game. Company H players are: Maec, Clark, Ahem, Tetlow, Darby, Ferguson, Ruppel, Wedderburn, and Conlon.

Artificer Orrie Maxwell, of Company M, can make biscuits and often helps the cook. He learned how to cook while he was in the navy.

Corporal Joseph McCoy and Privates Temple Biggs and William Cropp have brought twelve recruits in three days, and had them all accepted. They have been a factor in putting eighty-three men in Company M.

Joe Jeannette and Jack Johnson, two little colored boys, donned gloves and gave a boxing exhibition in Company E street. They were weighed in on the 35-pound scales of the supply sergeant, and used the big boxing gloves that one of the men had. Sergt. Abraham Fox, of Company E, was referee.

First Sergt. Ernest Bernard, of Company D, is thoroughly patriotic. He writes the bulletin board notices with red and blue pencils on white paper.

The navy is in control of the cook department of Company E. The mess sergeant is "Steve" Burke and the cooks are "Buddy" Driscoll, "Sidewheeler" Curtin, and "Timber" Burke.

Capt. Frank Lockhead, who was formerly T. M. C. A. wrestling instructor, will teach his men how to wrestle.

Three more mounted medical corps men are wanted to complete the detachment of sanitary troops that will accompany Battery B to the border. Lieut. Lyle C. White and Sergt. Guy C. Hopper have already been joined by Norman A. Streeks, Albert W. Cross, and Charles H. Haynes, recruits.

Corporal Mortelle Bian, of Battery B, had charge of packing the harness of the guns into canvas bags ready for shipment.

George MacGregor and Russell Knot, of Battery B, have purchased a washing machine to take along with the battery on its trip to the border, and are ready to undertake any washing contract.

Color Sergt. Francis T. Reynolds, of the Third Infantry, has been discharged from his trip to the border, after a successful operation which confined him to bed for twenty-five days.

In an exciting two-round bout in Company K street Thursday night, Corporal Weaden defeated Private George Lovins.

SCROLL INCORPORATED.

Service Institution Files Papers with Recorder.

A document incorporating the National Service School of the Woman's Section of the Navy League, and bearing the signatures of many prominent Washington women, was filed in the office of the recorder of deeds yesterday.

The purposes of the organization are set forth to be the education and training of women for actual service to their country in times of war or other emergency.
